Dear Ms. Mayer,

RE: Darryl Ross v. Cynthia Holmes
Court File No.: FC-15-2492

Further to the settlement discussions held on December 2, 2015 between the parties and counsel, Mr. Delaney has asked me to confirm the following. The parties agree to the following on an interim without prejudice basis:

1. The parties shall have interim joint custody and shared parenting of Charlotte Holmes and Alice Holmes;
2. The children will reside with each parent as follows:
 - a. With Darryl on Wednesday, December 2, 2015 until Monday, December 7, 2015 before school.
 - b. on a 2/2/3 schedule for two weeks from December 7, 2015;
 - c. The 2/2/3 schedule will be followed by a week on/week off schedule for two weeks. During this period, the other parent will have one mid-week overnight visit on the respective Wednesdays;
 - d. The parties will repeat the above-noted schedule on consent until February 1, 2015 when the schedule will be reviewed;
3. The parties will share the Christmas and New Year holidays equally.
4. No child support will be payable by either party at this time;
5. The parties shall pay section 7 expenses equally. The parties shall agree to section 7 expenses in writing and in advance of incurring same. Commencing December 1, 2015, the parties will share the childcare costs equally;

6. No spousal support will be payable by either party at this time;
7. Ms. Holmes will pay Mr. Ross $4,500.00 for the purchase of the family van. Mr. Ross will cooperate in transferring title and insurance as applicable;
8. Ms. Holmes will contribute $1,000.00 per month to the carrying costs for the matrimonial home once the property is listed for sale. She will contribute to the household carrying costs until the home is sold;
9. The parties will list the matrimonial home for sale early in January 2016. The parties will agree on the list price;
10. Mr. Ross will confirm whether he is agreeable to using Ms. Holmes' real estate agent for the sale of the matrimonial home. If he does not agree, Mr. Ross will provide a list of three real estate agents whom he approves, and Ms. Holmes will make the final decision on which real estate agent will be used for the listing;
11. The parties will register and use Our Family Wizard to communicate with one another and will share the cost equally; and
12. The parties will attempt to divide the household contents without the assistance of counsel.

Please note that, out of an abundance of caution and based on your correspondence of November 26, 2015, we will be filing our Answer with the court as a formality. However, I would like to emphasize that Ms. Holmes fully intends to move forward and comply with the terms that were agreed upon at the above-noted meeting held on December 2, 2015. Filing the Answer will also allow the parties to book a Case Conference date if it should become necessary.

I now look forward to receiving your confirmation of the above-noted terms.

Sincerely,

Alison Boyce
